EMPHASIS IN LANGUAGE, INTERACTION, AND SOCIAL ORGANIZATION (LISO) – 2019-20

Students pursuing a Ph.D. in the Department of Communication, the Department of Education, the Department of Linguistics, and the Department of Sociology may add an interdisciplinary emphasis in Language, Interaction, and Social Organization (LISO). Candidates pursuing the LISO Emphasis must also fulfill the departmental and university requirements related to their degree program. Work in satisfaction of departmental Ph.D. requirements may be used to satisfy emphasis requirements.

LISO faculty and graduate students conduct research on language use and other communicative action in their naturally occurring contexts with a special appreciation for the importance of those immediate, interactional contexts for understanding human conduct. This emphasis draws upon multiple approaches, including conversation analysis, interactional functional linguistics, language socialization, and sociocultural linguistic analysis. The emphasis can be added by submitting two petitions, one to LISO and a Change of Degree Status Petition to the Graduate Division and by meeting the requirements specified below.
