DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY – LINGUISTICS – 2019-20

In addition to departmental requirements, candidates for graduate degrees must fulfill University requirements as described in the "Graduate Education" section of the UCSB General Catalog.

The Ph.D. requires a minimum of 44.0 units of graduate-level coursework beyond those required for the M.A.; the specific number of required units varies according to the student's research focus area. Each course may fulfill only one Linguistics degree requirement. Two-quarter and three-quarter courses are considered single courses for the purpose of requirements. Students are strongly encouraged to take coursework beyond the required minimum, selected in consultation with their faculty advisor. Students must take all required courses for a letter grade if that option is available. Students are required to maintain a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.7. Additionally, students are expected to enroll in LING 272: Colloquium each quarter in which they are in residence. Time-to-Degree: 4 years to advance to candidacy, 7 years to complete the Ph.D.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

Students must demonstrate knowledge of one language other than English before receiving the M.A. or completing the screening review into the Ph.D. program, and a second language before advancing to Ph.D. candidacy. Students who are native speakers of a language other than English may count English as one of their foreign languages; no exam of the student's proficiency in English is necessary. Knowledge of the language can be demonstrated by one of the following methods of examination:

A. English translation of a 500-word passage of intermediate difficulty, chosen by the examiner, to be produced within one and a half hours with the aid of a print or online dictionary approved in advance by the examiner. The faculty member in charge of exams for a particular language will provide a sample of material comparable to what can be expected on the exam. Translation exams may be taken any quarter of the academic year, on a date to be set by the examiner.

B. A brief conversation with an examiner on general topics, showing ability to use the language effectively.

C. An audio or video recording of a fieldwork session in which the student can be observed to be using the language effectively.

PROFESSIONALISM WORKSHOP REQUIREMENT

Students must complete 12 required workshops during their graduate program. The workshop leader will confirm participation and completion of required work to the Graduate Program Advisor, who will maintain completion records. Ordinarily, students will take each workshop in the year noted below; however, in some cases a student may choose to take a workshop earlier in order to prepare for an upcoming professional activity or because of the timing of fieldwork. Students may also retake any workshop as a refresher if they choose, but credit is only given once per workshop.

The workshops are hands-on learning experiences; students must bring a draft of any required document to the workshop for group feedback and must submit a revised version by the end of the quarter (unless otherwise specified).

9	Applying for Research Grants for the Dissertation	YEAR 4
10	Writing the Dissertation	YEAR 5
11	Careers within and beyond Academia	YEAR 5

DOCTORAL COMMITTEES

Students must establish a four-member doctoral committee to guide their progress through the program. At least three of these members must be UC Academic Senate faculty. At least two of the four members must be from within the Department of Linguistics, and at least one member must be from outside the Department of Linguistics. The membership of the student's advisory committee may evolve as the student progresses through the various stages of the doctoral program, with successive committees established for the publishable paper, Ph.D. qualifying exam, and Ph.D. dissertation. The structure of these committees, and their specific roles, are as specified in the Linguistics Graduate Handbook.

PUBLISHABLE PAPER REQUIREMENT

The student must write a substantial research paper, the "publishable paper," suitable for publication in a major refereed journal and approved by the student's ad hoc committee, as described in the Linguistics Graduate Handbook. This requirement must be completed, including submission to the target journal, before the qualifying examination is taken.

Date of submission to journal: _____ Target journal: _____

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION

Once all of the above requirements are completed, the student must take an oral qualifying examination administered by their qualifying exam committee, covering general linguistics. Successful completion of this examination is required for advancement to candidacy.
