

University of California, Santa Barbara
Program Learning Outcomes

G.E. Special Subject Area: Quantitative Relationships

In Quantitative Relationships courses, students develop and apply basic quantitative methods to relevant questions or areas of study.

Students who successfully complete the Quantitative Relationships requirement will be able to:

- Demonstrate the ability to collect, interpret, and effectively utilize data and quantitative information.
- Use mathematical or other abstract models to express and understand causal relationships.